

FAQ ROUND 5: Questions & Answers

1. What does a typical year homeschooling with your board look like?

The words, typical, and homeschooling, do not belong in the same sentence 😊

I'm not sure how to answer that question. Other than the required two evaluations and the reimbursement process, the home ed family does not need to interact with the home ed office. We are here if you need or want ideas, help, suggestions, etc. We in the office and your facilitator will respond to your preference to be left alone or to interact regularly with us.

2. do you support only parent led or student led as well?

We support both.

3. Being located in Fort McMurray, how will the two required facilitator meetings work? Can they be done virtually if need be?

THEE's facilitator for Ft McMurray lives in town 😊

4. Being a first time homeschooler, fully parent led, will the facilitator assist with the education plan, as i don't know where to start?

Yes

5. What happens if I am not able to "fulfill" what I have set out in the education plan?

Nothing 😊

Your facilitator will simply write a note in the evaluation form...she will do that only as a matter or record keeping.

6. Can the plan be adjusted though out the year?

Yes

7. Am I able to switch between the 22 solo and 1,400 outcomes?

You can do whatever you want to do with your learning plan.

8. I understand you are a Christian-based board. Do you require Religious teachings to be included within the education plan?

No, the program plan is yours to create.

9. I have two children that i will be doing parent led with, one going into grade 3 and the other into Kindergarten. I understand that there is no funding for kinder, do i need to register her with the board?

No

10. Are there any other costs i need to pay? is there a charge for facilitator to come out?

No and No

11. Am I able to claim items (i.e. workbooks) that I have already purchased (during the summer)?

Yes

or is it only a certain time period (i.e. after we have been accepted to a board)?

No, THEE does not have that additional rule/policy, which I think is ridiculous.
